Santiago Canyon College

Alumni Stories – Andy Kratochvil

After attending Santiago Canyon College, Andy Kratochvil completed his Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and French from California State University, Fullerton (CSUF) in 2016. He then moved to Washington, D.C. and completed his Master of Arts in International Affairs at the School of International Service at American University in 2018. He still lives in the D.C. area and has been working for the American Federation of Teachers since 2017.

Favorite memories of SCC are getting coffee with friends in the morning at the place outside the bookstore and all of my classes with Corinna Evett and Nooshan Shekarabi.
